

“Israeli Political Institutions Formation and Dilemmas”

Emory University

Spring Semester 2018

Dr. Reda Mansour

reda.mansour@emory.edu

Monday-Wednesday 2:30-3:45

Course held in Tarbutton 105

This course explores the Israeli political system, its institutional characteristics and components, and its main political dilemmas. The course aims to provide knowledge about Israeli political history and society. Topics include the origins and the development of the political system, electoral histories, and government formation. Attention is given to the dynamics between institutional arrangements and social cleavages in Israel and their interrelated effects. The course also discusses some of the main socio-political issues and tensions stemming from the dual definition of Israel as a Jewish and democratic state, religion and politics, and the effects of armed conflicts.

Course Objectives:

1. Develop a deeper understanding of the complex Israeli political system.
2. Understand the Israeli political system and reflections of the society.
3. Learn about the challenges of the Israeli political system.
4. Engage in critical thinking, discussion and analysis of the current issues on the Israeli political agenda.
